Dear Melisa Savich,

Thank you for your application to the Computer Science department's graduate program at the University of Texas at Austin. We appreciate your interest in our Masters program.

Today we are writing to inform you that our Masters admissions decisions have been made. I regret that we will not be able to offer admission to the Masters program to you. We had a very limited number of openings, and a very large number of applicants; we were able to offer admission to only about 5% of those who applied. Because of the limited number of openings, many good applicants had to be turned away.

We wish you the best in your future education and career.

Sincerely,

CS Masters Admissions Committee
The University of Texas at Austin
